Description: Molly, sweet Molly, White and soft as a cloud of cotton with blue eyes that hypnotize, a soft, shy, meow as asking permission to do so. Very good with people, as if it had always lived in a house and not in the hard Street.

Do not know what this small in a colony, did not have the carácter to survive in it, that was so, that when collected it was full of sores caused by bites and scratches from others cats, was the target of all the other members of the colony.

She was extremely thin, others did not let him not eat and she is just away expecting still some others with what she could survive.

This so traumatic experience has developed a predilection for people, is very affectionate and docile, like which they cherish it, they shagged her, to comb it ... pampered her.

With others cats it is still anxious, which is not surprising after everything that she lives on the Street.

In her house she is recovering the weight, shine in the hair and the joy in the eyes. It's a Young cat, in just one year and very healthy, negative immune and leukemia, sterilized, vaccinated and ready to undertake a new and happy life with the person who you want to give a home, she promises love and eternal purrs.
